

New Grass Sod Watering Schedule

The frequency of watering new sod depends on several factors such as the type of grass, weather conditions, soil composition, and local climate. However, as a general guideline, newly laid sod typically requires frequent and consistent watering to establish healthy root growth. Here are some recommendations:

Keep in mind that these watering recommendations are general guidelines, and you should adapt them based on the specific needs of your sod and local conditions. It's essential to monitor the moisture level of the soil and adjust the watering accordingly. Additionally, consult with local experts or landscapers who have knowledge of the specific sod variety and climate in your area for more precise instructions.
